

TRAILL TALES

*Catharine Parr Trill College
Trent University*

A message from our College Principal, Dr. Michael Eamon

Dear Traillites,

CORRECTION: In last week's Trill Tales I had incorrectly stated that the Woven Voices Choir Concert at the Amphitheatre was to be held on July 25th. The date is actually this Sunday, June 25th, at 2 PM. My apologies for this typo. I hope that everyone in the area will come out for what promises to be a lovely afternoon of free music. Next Tuesday, June 27th, the Queer Ecology Hike that starts in Jackson Park at 4 PM will end at the Amphitheatre at 6 PM. Check out some great beats and live performances at Trill that evening.

In other news, the long awaited (perhaps dreaded) Parkhill construction project has started. The latest report that I received states that Parkhill Road will be closed between George and Reid streets from now until November. Please factor this into any trips that you may be making to the College on the Hill.

I am happy to announce that Kate Dougherty, a Fellow of the College in Anthropology, just co-published an article on her recent work at Nassau Mills, now part of the Symons Campus of Trent University. The former settlement of Nassau Mills offers a veritable archaeological treasure trove, including clues on the Red Mill which was a massive mid-nineteenth-century industrial complex. Interested readers can find the article "History and Landscape Archaeology at the Nassau Mills, Peterborough (Bc-Gn 11, Bc-Gn 12, Bc-Gn 23)" in Ontario Archaeology issue 101. Congratulations Kate!

Finally, we introduce to Trill Tales the "Alumni Corner" which we hope will showcase Traillites from around the world doing what Traillites do best... having fun and looking good doing it! I encourage any alumni readers to send in photos either from their days at Trill, or depicting recent exploits now that summer is upon us. All Hail Trill!

Until next week,
